Forecast for Sunday 26 Nov 2023

Weather: A dry day across the Trossachs, Arrochar Alps and Lochaber, best of the sunshine across Lochaber. Cloud over Arran will extend north to affect Argyll, and southern parts of the Trossachs, though uncertain how far north the cloud will get. Over Arran, cloud thicker and lower bringing some mostly light rain during the afternoon and evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: More than 90% at first in north and remaining so in far north, falling 40% in south.

Low Cloud and visibility: No low cloud across the Highlands at first but cloud at 500-750m over Arran, some extending north into Argyll and the southern Trossachs. Visibility beneath cloud will remain mostly good, but will fall moderate, perhaps poor at times, later in rain over Arran.
